"MUSIC, MUSIC"

Madison Orchestra Presents Program

Madison's College Concert Orchestra, under the direction of Clifford T. Marshall, will present an evening of musical entertainment on Wednesday, May 16, at 8 p.m. in Wilson Auditorium.

With stage setting, the orchestra will present a program of both classical and semi-classical numbers. The program will include a concert overture, novelty numbers, and numbers from musical shows which will feature vocalists, Sally Lance, soprano, and Skip Michael, baritone.

Sally Lance will also sing "The Evening Prayer", a number arranged by clarinetist Douglas Soyars for vocalist and woodwind sextet. "Doug" and "Skip", who are seniors, will be making their final appearances with the orchestra.

This year has proved successful for the organization which has made 25 public appearances. The orchestra has recently returned from a week's tour of the northern neck section of Virginia. Each day while on tour they played matinee and evening programs.

The Wednesday night program will be the last formal concert the orchestra will present this year and the public is cordially invited to attend.

New Electric "Typers" On Order At Present For Business Students

In recognition of the growing importance of electric typewriters in public schools and in the modern business office, the Department of Business and Business Education has recently made arrangements for six new electric typewriters to be added to the typewriting room.

These electric typewriters will be available for use by Summer School typing students during the forthcoming Summer Session.

Miss Mary M. Brady, Associate Professor of Business Education, will be in charge of the six-hour workshop in the teaching of manual and electric typewriting on Madison College campus on Saturday, May 12.

International Business Machines Corporation is conducting the instrumental part of the workshop through Mrs. Marion Wood, a former professor of Secretarial Studies at Boston University, and one who has had extensive experience in teaching with the electric typewriter.

Teaching ideas will be exchanged with Mrs. Wood during the Saturday workshop which will run 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. A luncheon will be served at the Belle Meade Restaurant for the participants. Certificates will be awarded to those who complete the workshop course.

Victory Ride For '58'ers"

College Organ Students Entertain Country Club

The Women's Club of Page County presented Professor George Raymond Hicks, head of the organ department at Madison, and several of his students in a program of organ music at the Methodist Church in Luray, Virginia.

The program, given Sunday, April 29, included the following numbers: Prelude and Fugue in D Minor, J. S. Bach—Miss Mary Ann Wertz; Benediction Nuptiale, Buboia from Messe De Mariage—Miss Ann Bickerstaff; Symphonic Piece, a-Romanza, b-Scherzo, (Piano and Organ)—Miss Peggy Long and Miss Frances Lukin; Psalm XVIII, Marcello—Miss Betty Rumburg; Solemn Prelude, Davies, Minister Bells, Wheelton, Liebestod, from Tristan and Isolde, Wagner, Finale, from Symphony I Vierne—George R. Hicks.

Students, Two Advisors Attend FBLA Meeting

Three members of the Future Business Leaders of America, accompanied by two advisors, represented Madison College at the State F.B.L.A. Meeting on Friday and Saturday, May 4 and 5, at Roanoke, Virginia.

Miss Sara Anderson, regional advisor, attended the State Executive Board Meeting on Friday and, as member of a panel discussion on Saturday, spoke on "How F.B.L.A. Works In the Development of Leadership."

Madison students, Sue Peters, Nancy Dixon, and Bessie Smaltz, accompanied by Miss Mary Margaret Brady of the business department, conducted the parliamentary law contest. This contest, a regional and state test, was prepared by the F.B.L.A. chapter of Madison College.

Madison Host For Conference May 12

Madison will be host to the International Business Machine Conference Saturday, May 12, under the joint sponsorship of the International Business Machines Corp. and the Dept. of Business and Business Education of Madison College.

Workshop will include a six hour course in the teaching and operating of electric typewriters under the guidance of Mrs. Marian Wood of Boston University. The faculty member in charge of the Conference is Miss Mary M. Brady, Associate Professor of Business Education.

Attending this conference will be High School Business Teachers from near-by counties and most of the Staff of the Dept. of Business and Business Education. Dr. S. J. Turille will extend greetings to the visiting teachers, and a luncheon will be held at noon for the workshop participants at the Belle-Meade Restaurant.

Certificates will be awarded to those who complete the course.

Assembly Features Orchestra Program

Classical and semi-classical music for every preference was presented to the student body at the Wednesday, May 9, assembly. The Madison presentation was by the college concert orchestra conducted by Clifford Marshall.

Featured were Douglas Soyars, clarinetist, who played a concerto for clarinet and piano by Mozart; Edward Michael, who sang numbers from Broadway musicals; David Brewster, violinist and Sally Lance, soprano.

Festive Floats Depict May Day Merriment

"Thank You" Goes To All Organizations By A. A. President

by Mary Lou Carroll

"It's all over but the shouting"—referring to May Day, 1956. It was an uphill pull all the way, but that hour and a half of culmination of effort was full worthy of the strain, pain, and moments of panic that go into the making of a Madison May Day.

Yes, there were moments — like the time when a search of the entire campus failed to yield the missing May Pole ribbons, and the time when the realization came that the record for the Mexican Hat Dance would not arrive, and the time "walking" was ready to begin in an auditorium stuffed with people who were hard pressed to see the person sitting next to them, much less the beauties on parade! These were just a few of the serious-at-the-time-but-we-can-laugh-about-them-now episodes.

The original shouts of joy and relief about 5 p.m. on May 5 have now turned to those of appreciation and thanks to all who had a part in molding this occasion. To the weatherman (who had his orders from Miss Clara Childs); and to the train (which went through exactly 10 minutes before starting time); and to the committee's and advisors who worked so diligently; the Recreation Council and the Social Committee; Mr. Frank Roberts and his staff for their most able assistance; to the Freshman Class which turned out in great numbers to play their traditional roles; to all the performers whose talents made the program such a colorful success; and to the court which attended our chosen queen.

We must add our personal thanks to the members of the Athletic Association Council and to its advisors—upon these people rested the brunt of the responsibility for answering last minute pleas for help in attending to the thousand, nerve-wracking, but necessary details.

To each of you the A. A. extends a word of sincere appreciation for a job well done and a day well remembered. See you next year—say around the first of May!!

This year Shenandoah apartments, the Freshman Class, Harrisonburg High School Band and Ashby dormitory carried away the May Day honors.

Decoration prizes were awarded to Ashby Dormitory and Pi Kappa Sigma Sorority House. Ashby went "oriental" as it carried out the theme of a "May Day In China". Chinese lanterns were hung between the trees along the walkway leading to the dormitory. Life sized figures of a Chinese family, a man, woman, and 2 children, rose from the porch windows, with a ferocious-looking baby dragon climaxing the picture. Several panels of Chinese art and a life sized coolie with rickshaw completed the prize winning decorations.

Shenandoah constructed an archway over the walk which proudly displayed the words "Pi Kappa Sigma, Home of May Queen '56". On the porch of the house there was a globe, and leading out from it were pictures symbolizing the four corners of the world, north, east, south, and west.

Messick, Carter, and Sprinkle sorority houses received honorable mention for decorations, while Sheldon and Lincoln, captured honorable mention for the dormitories.

Freshmen triumphed again as they received the award for the best decorated float. Tanned girls in sarongs with leis around their necks stood or sat under a waving palm tree. This lovely and unique float was quite interesting. The Junior Class float won honorable mention.

Harrisonburg High School's Band won $25.00 for their participation in the parade.

Winning displays showed hard work and concentration, and the results won for all campus recognition.

Notice

National Office Management Association test will be given in the Department of Business and Business Education on Thursday, May 17, at 3:30 p.m. in Reed 6. Mrs. Coffman, Assistant Professor of Business Education will be in charge of the shorthand section to be given at that time. Miss Mary Brady, Associate Professor of Business Education will administer the typing, clerical and office machines tests. Business majors who take these tests compete with students in colleges and universities on a nation-wide basis and receive certificates of proficiency if they successfully pass the examination.

Left: President G. Tyler Miller climaxes "May Day Around the Globe" as he crowns Queen Martha Ann Morgan. The queen ascended to the throne through a processional isle bedecked with waving flags of the various countries represented in May Day.

Right: In the float contest first place award went to the Freshman class for their portrayal of Hawaii. Four freshmen girls adorned the realistic float with leis and "ukes" as they strummed their way through the May Day parade. The winners were announced preceding the pageant.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

In behalf of the Y.W.C.A. cabinet and the student body, I would like to commend the faculty and especially Dr. Schubert for a terrific "Faculty Follies." We certainly enjoyed every "side-splitting moment" of it.

Dr. Schubert was in charge of the show and I think he did a fine job of organizing and emceeing such an enjoyable show. I'm sure I am expressing the sentiments of the entire student body when I say, "Hats off to a wonderful show and a wonderful faculty".

Let's Forget It!

Dear Editor:

With only four more weeks until we seniors graduate it seems a shame that we must see the last few issues of The Breeze filled with slams against our class.

In the fall when a decision was made to allow seniors to leave assembly first, the seniors did not even vote. Why should we take the blame for something in which we had no part? We feel sure that our class would not intentionally show disrespect to the faculty. Perhaps if we had been given a chance to vote, realizing that the faculty is older, more mature, and due first place; we would not have voted in favor of such a move.

Let's give credit where credit is due and forget it!

Are Your Values Balanced

Dear Editor:

Aren't we letting something very worthwhile pass us by? Just because roll isn't taken at chapel on Friday, does that make it any less a vital part of our life here at Madison?

Such speakers as Mrs. John Hall Jones of Birmingham, Ala., who spoke several weeks ago on marriage and the family, and guest ministers—not to mention our own Madrigal group who presented such a beautiful program of Easter music, all deserve our presence in chapel as an audience. However, we are the fortunate ones—having the opportunity to attend and take part in such programs as these.

Shall we not all stop and think—"Are my values in life well-balanced? Is my college life really well rounded or has it become 'tilted'?"

Glenna Orrell

F. Lukin Completes Musical Program

Finishing her music requirements at Madison, Frances Lukin presented her senior organ recital Sunday afternoon, May 6, in Wilson auditorium at 4:30 p.m. Assisting her on the piano was Peggy Ann Long.

Frances, who hails from Lexington, Virginia, is a senior majoring in Music Education. Over Easter Frances was one of those selected from the Glee Club to tour Iceland, the Azores and Bermuda. Her extra-curricula activities include Kappa Delta Pi, the Glee Club, the Chorus, the Diapason Club, Y.W.C.A., and the Westminster Fellowship.

Included in her varied program were the following selections: Chorale Prelude by Bach; Symphonic Piece for Piano and Organ, "Romance" and "Scherzo" by Clokey; Bible Poems, Verses from the Bible set to music by Weinberger; and Concerto No. 13 in F Major by Handel.

Music major, Frances Lukin.

A reception in Frances' honor was given by the Diapason Club, following the recital in Alumnae Hall.

Dear Editor:

Very seldom do I take the time to watch the intramural teams playing sports. It isn't that I'm not interested, but until recently, I just didn't find the time. The other day, I managed to catch several teams in action on the softball diamond. As I stood there, I felt rather ashamed of myself for lacking spirit. I felt less guilty, however, when I learned of the sports leaders' biggest problem. It seems that many of the teams scheduling games never show up!!

Doesn't it seem that if one were interested enough to sign up for a team they would offer it full support? I also heard that many of the recorded wins were due to forfeits. The games are considered won, fairly and squarely, but because the object is competition, it kinda' destroys the purpose.

I believe that if a game time is set, the forfeiting team could inform the opposing team before hand rather than let them find themselves fully dressed, fully prepared, and with no one to play.

I'm sure these teams just weren't thinking when these incidents occurred, and now that it has been brought to their attention, they will be more co-operative.

The games are very good and it is fun watching your friends play. I hope more of you who haven't time to play will find the time to spectate.

Survey Reveals Consumers Favorites As It Recognizes Preferable Brands

In an interesting and informative Consumer Attitude Survey the business majors in the marketing class, taught by Dr. S. J. Turille, discovered some interesting consumer preferences among student at Madison College.

The favorite brand of ink was Script, followed by Parker's and Sheaffer. Blue ink was preferred by 68% of the students. Baby Ruth is the favorite candy bar among college students. The preferred time for consuming a candy bar on the Madison Campus is at night. The Chevrolet is the favorite automobile followed by Ford, Plymouth, and Dodge. The majority of the consumers surveyed preferred two-toned cars over solid colors. The heater was considered the most important extra on automobiles.

Madison girls even use sewing machines. The Singer Sewing Machines have first place with the Necchi second. The cabinet model suits the majority of the students. The men students were not neglected in the study in which they were asked the question, "Which anti-freeze do you use in your car?" Forty-six per cent favored Zerex while 42% favored Prestone.

The Sheaffer Fountain Pen ran a close race with Esterbrook as the two favorite fountain pens used on the campus. Sheaffer was favored by 38% of the students while Esterbrook won 35% of the votes. The favorite cigarette of the Madison co-ed is Pall Mall followed by L & M, Winston, and Lucky Strike. The vast majority favored king-sized cigarettes. Only 3% were concerned about the cancer scare in smoking.

'Rock And Roll'

With Lynne

Hi everybody! I've got real big news in the record world for you this week. Bally Records has a new star, an "overnight hit smash." She's Betty Johnson and she is really "scratching gravel" with her "Honky Tonk Rock", "Say It Ain't So, Jo", "I'll Wait" and "Please Tell Me Why", which are romping all over the Rock & Roll field. They haven't placed in the top ten yet, but it won't be long.

The coolest part of it all, though, is this; Bally Records has another new group, the Gayden Sisters, that is equally as fine. They sing, "How Can You Not Believe", and "Honestly, Honestly."

I've got another record that is a must. The title is "The Rock & Roll Express." Several very good artists have recorded it and I can't decide on my favorite, so pick the best one and let me know what you think. (Box 28). And also, if you've got a favorite singer you'd like to hear about, let me know.

My last tip for this week is one of Federal's latest turn outs. The Mid nighters sing it and it's called "Rock, Granny, Roll". Frankly, I haven't heard it, but with a title like that, it's bound to be hot!!!

Help the artists reach their goal, Come on, Gang, let's Rock & Roll!!

The preferred sweater is Jantzen, followed by Catalina and Canterbury. Orlon is the favorite fabric, followed by cashmere.

A majority of the Madison co-eds surveyed preferred Toni Home Permanents, followed by Lilt, Bobbi, and Richard Hudnut. As expected the favorite soft drink is Coca Cola followed by Pepsi-Cola. It was found that the Bulova wrist-watch is the favorite followed by the Elgin, with Benrus third. Even shoe polish was surveyed. Esquire was the leading brand followed by Griffen and Cavalier. The majority of the students who drive cars says that they use Esso gasoline above all other types of gasoline, followed by Amoco and Gulf.

Samsonite luggage is the brand most frequently desired by Madison girls. The favorite color of luggage is blue, followed by green and ivory. The male college student indicated that 64% of them have a hair-dressing brand preference. It is Wildroot Hair Dressing followed by Vitalis. It was found that Colgate Toothpaste leads all brands of toothpaste on the Madison campus. The frequency of use of this brand of toothpaste is followed by Gleam and Pepsodent. Maxwell House Coffee is the favorite brand of coffee, followed by Nescafe. It was found that over 50% of the students drink between two and four cups of coffee a day.

Madison girls prefer to read fashion magazines above all other types of magazines. The favorite magazine is Seventeen. The Madison co-ed washes her hair frequently. Her favorite shampoo is Lustre-Creme followed by Prell and Breck. The favorite brand of women's shoes is Mademoiselle, followed by Town & Country and American Girl. The men surveyed picked the Arrow Shirt over the Van Heusen as their favorite shirt.

Students do chew chewing gum. 44% preferred Dentyne, followed by Spearmint and Beechnut. Revlon is far and away the most popular brand of lipstick. 80% of the students polled preferred Kellogg's Cereals. Many other interesting findings were presented in the surveys which may be obtained by consulting the survey-maker of that particular product.

Chalk the night of Wednesday, May 16th up on your calendars as "Reserved for Madison College Orchestra Concert". Selections will include, to mention a few, The Overture by Ruy Blas, Waltzing Cat, and Show Boat. I think you'll like the program.

After the Frat was so badly beaten in volleyball by the faculty two weeks ago, the Y.W.C.A. eagerly challenged the Y.M.C.A. hoping for a similar defeat. It's a shame to have to print this, but the final score after a half hour of playing was 61 to 15. Sure! The boys won!

At the regular mens' student government meeting this past Monday, several members were elected to the standing committees and Eddie Broyles and Kevin Miller were elected to serve on the Honor Council. Final plans were made for the men students' picnic which will be held at the City Park on Friday, May 11th.

Also making picnic arrangements are the Frat men. They will meet on campus at 2:00, Sunday afternoon and drive down to the College Camp.

Reel Dope

Sloan Wilson's best seller, The Man in the Gray Flannel Suit, has now been made into a motion picture which begins Friday, May 11, and runs for five days at the State Theater.

Gregory Peck is "the man in the gray flannel suit," who lives an average life with his wife and three children. But trouble comes when Gregory remembers his unfaithfulness to his wife during the Second World War. He finds that he has a son in a small village in Italy. Gregory wants to help his son, but he and his wife, Jennifer Jones, have financial trouble. He finally decides to tell her of his unfaithfulness. Jennifer is naturally quite upset.

"The Man in the Gray Flannel Suit" has already won its own acclaim. The plot has been proved interesting and good. We will have to see the movie before we can pass judgement on "The Man in the Gray Flannel Suit."

"Alexander, the Great" is a historical movie. It depicts the battles, sieges, contests, assassinations that live in history. Showing throughout the movie are the fine performances of Richard Burton, Fredric March and Claire Bloom. Alexander, the conqueror, played by Richard Burton, lives his legend that we have heard many times. Starting on Saturday, May 12, and running through Wednesday, May 16, this movie may be seen at the Virginia Theater.

Also at the Virginia Theater Thursday and Friday, May 17 and 18, is a movie that prospective teachers should not miss. Everyone knows of the high school teacher, Miss Brooks, and her hilarious efforts at teaching. Eve Arden has now gone to Hollywood to make a movie of "Our Miss Brooks." Robert Rockwell is the principal, and Eve Arden manages a funny situation out of almost everything in the classroom.

This movie is strictly for laughs. If you are in the mood for smiles, it will be a good hour and a half of entertainment.

Sports Chat With Pat

May Day has passed and sports are back on the scene once again. All are making use of the good 'ole' sunshine while it is here.

Yesterday, Madison's tennis team bowed to Mary Baldwin College by a score of 3 to 1. The only winner for Madison was Sara Jane Shearer as she beat her opponent 6-4 and 6-1. Pat Schultz lost by a score of 1-6 and 2-6, and Harriette Thomas lost by a score of 2-6 and 2-6. The doubles team, Gerry Walker and Carolyn Legard lost by scores of 6-3, 3-6 and 11-13. You played great gals, even though you lost.

Mary Baldwin College archers came along with the tennis team to find some competition. Though the scores were close, Madison won. Top scorer was Elinor Wayne of Madison. Thanks are to be given to the Madison ladies whose enthusiasm and hard work made it possible for us to win. They were Margaret Morris, Betty Rumberg, Peggy Mitchell and Mabel Caldwell.

For the past couple of weeks we have seen men, and I do mean MEN on the archery field. They want to compete against us! Come on ladies, let's try to make it difficult for them.

Last week in the 20 yard range round, Margaret Morris was high scorer with 420 and 50 hits. Sarah Newton was next to top with 389 and 59 hits.

Hey all you intramural tennis players! Have you played off your tennis match yet? Let's get busy, only two weeks left!

Next week completes our intramural sports program for another year. The year has been very successful as the enthusiasm for sports has grown. More and more students are finally realizing the main purpose of intramural sports. They are meant for fun and enjoyment and also competition. To the retiring sports leaders, thanks for a job well done.

To all the faculty advisors we must also say thanks. Without your guidance the program would not have been a success.
